January 24, 2009

Peter S. Knox Conference Center
326 Greene St., Augusta, GA 30901

As busy clinicians it is hard to stay abreast of the most recent research. It is also difficult to decipher the best standards of care for our patients. This excellent, informative and advanced course will provide therapists with some exciting new research that is actually contrary to former beliefs in treating clients with dysphagia. Dr. Rosenbek is an excellent source of knowledge and thorough presenter. He is known for helping clinicians understand the recent research outcomes and how they can best treat their patients based on Evidence Based Practice guidelines and Quality of Life issues. Participants will leave this course with more competence for treating their patients and know that the patients have an improved quality of life and improved swallowing safety.

Learning Outcomes:

1. I will recognize issues of nutrition/hydration in NH patients.
2. I will determine risks and/or benefits of enteral and oral nutrition.
3. I will understand the importance of the VFSE in decision making for treatment.
4. I will describe the process of making the "eat versus no-eat decision."

Registration: 8:00 – 8:30. The course will begin promptly at 8:30 and end at 12:45 with one 15-minute break in the middle of the day. There will be a working lunch at 11:30 and boxed lunches are included in the registration fee.

.4 CEU Credits

$25.00 for contracted SLPs

FREE FOR PHYSICIANS

$50.00 for non-contracted SLPs

Speaker: John C. Rosenbek; Ph.D. CCC-SLP is Professor and Chair; Department of Communicative Disorders; College of Public Health and Health Professions; University of Florida; Gainesville, Fl. His major clinical and research interests are in dysphagia and neurogenic communication disorders. He maintains an active clinical practice and teaches in the Rehabilitation Science Ph.D. and the Bachelor's of Health Science programs. In addition he is a funded researcher and holds the Frank R.
